THE // FLATIRON SCHOOL

EMAIL: gonzales.chris.a@gmail.com
PHONE: 858-442-9014
GITHUB: https://github.com/chrisgonzgonz
TWITTER: @chris_gonzgonz
MEETUP PRESENTATION:
BLOG: codercorral.com
codercorral.com

BIO

Chris Gonzales graduated from the Haas School of Business at UC Berkeley in 2011 after finishing his Portuguese minor in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. After completing his studies and teaching English to children in the favelas, he found his way to New York City at the Goldman Sachs Product Control group, where he spent two years managing a structured debt portfolio of $11B.

The San Diego native enjoys exploring the concrete jungle via bike and skateboard, sampling (indulging, really) in its libations and delicacies and writing catchy ditties on his acoustic guitar. Despite overwhelming demand for a revival of his previous musical effort, The Witch Doctors, Chris denies any plans of a reunion at this time.

INTERESTS

+ Exploration
+ Both foreign and domestic
+ Devouring books
+ Puzzles n' games n' code
+ Learning new languages
+ Live music

NOTES

THE // FLATIRON SCHOOL

EMAIL: awaxman11@gmail.com
PHONE: 216-533-1493
GITHUB: https://github.com/awaxman11
TWITTER: @ajwaxman
MEETUP PRESENTATION:
BLOG: awaxman11.github.io and https://medium.com/@ajwaxman
awaxman11.github.io and https://medium.com/@ajwaxman
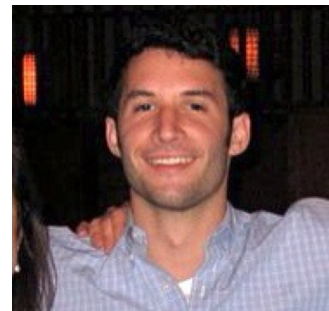

BIO

Adam is a philosopher turned banker turned programmer. After graduating from Emory University in Atlanta, GA he chose to dive head first into the business world as an investment banking analyst. Yearning to learn more and be closer to building a product vs. analyzing numbers, he decided to quit his job in January to learn to code full-time.

Born outside of Cleveland, OH, he appreciates meeting fellow Midwesterners and is an avid Cleveland sports fan. He also enjoys playing sports and is currently trying to prolong is college soccer career w/ pickup games around the city.

INTERESTS

+ Soccer
+ Mobile apps
+ Running
+ Mashups
+ Settlers of catan
+ Sustainable food

NOTES